

Pauline Chan

Pauline Chan is the Head of Lawyer Experience and Lawyer-in-Residence at Goodlawyer, a technology company that is transforming how lawyers and businesses work together. Pauline brings 14+ years of experience as a corporate lawyer to a role that perfectly aligns with her passion for innovation in the legal sector and social justice. She is deeply committed to expanding access to legal services, particularly for founders from marginalized groups. She is also an entrepreneur, having run her own barre and yoga studio, giving her first-hand experience of what it takes to help a small business succeed.

Pauline's role at Goodlawyer is more than leading our community of 150+ lawyers – it's about redefining the experience of law for clients and legal professionals, ensuring a more accessible, diverse, and responsive legal environment. Pauline is leading the charge towards a more inclusive and forward-thinking legal future and is a frequent speaker at industry events.
